PORT OF AMOY.

SHIPOWNERS, AGENTS, and COMMANDERS are informed that the DOCK COMPANY'S ESTABLISHMENT at the above Port offers every facility for Repairing and Securing Vessels; Cleaning and Painting Iron Ships, and Repair and Refit of STEAM MACHINERY AND BOILERS.

Their large GRANITE DOCK is 307 feet in length, fitted with a Caisson Gate, and with a Centrifugal steam-pump of great power, ensuring despatch in all states of the tides. An average spring tide like this DOCK can receive vessels drawing 16 to 17 feet, and during the Autumn and Winter Months, 18 feet. Their two smaller Docks, also built of Granite, can receive vessels drawing 12 to 13 feet.

The Premises comprise a large SMITHY and BOILER SHOP, CARPENTERS and BOAT-BUILDERS' SHOPS, An fitted with Lathes and other Tools driven by steam.

AN IRON FOUNDRY

for castings up to 5 Tons weight, and a BRASS FOUNDRY.

The different departments are superintended by experienced Europeans, viz.—ENGINEER, BLACKSMITH, and SHIPWRIGHT.

The Company keep on hand Copper and Metal Sheathing, Spars, Timber, Paints for Iron Vessels, and all material for Dockyard use.

A DRY GODOWN for reception of stores of vessels requiring to discharge them.

Good Quarters for Officers of ships under repair in the DOCK.

1253 Amoy, 16th December, 1867.

NOTICE.

THE Undersigned call the attention of Masters and Agents of vessels discharging at this port to the great advantage to be gained in point of convenience, despatch, and economy, by making use of their Wharves at New Harbour.

With the assistance of steam cranes, a general cargo can be landed easily in a few days—or in about one-fifth of the time usually occupied discharging in the roads.

There are safe, dry, and very commodious brick godowns on the wharves, which vessels have free use of for cargo while discharging.

The troubles and disputes with, and pilfering of cargo common among boatmen, are avoided by vessels using the wharves.

Carriage of cargo to the town (which is within easy distance) is guaranteed to be not more than lighterage from the roads, and the coolie hire discharging alongside is less.

There is always a large stock of the best English and Welsh coals on the premises, which are supplied to steamers at the lowest market price, and vessels going alongside to take in or discharge coals pay no wharfage.

Vessels discharging cargo pay a wharfage of 20 cents per ton, a trifling charge when the immense advantages gained are taken into consideration.

Arrangements have been made by which all repairs to ships or steamers can be done with despatch while the vessels are lying alongside the wharves.

There is an efficient European pilot on the premises, and, when required, a steam tug is always available.

HONGKONG, OCTOBER 15TH, 1868.

ENQUIRER's letter is deserving of the most attentive perusal and careful consideration. He has done what we have been urging our mercantile friends and correspondents to do this sometime past, i.e., go into the figures constituting the trade statistics of the place, with that special knowledge which they only possess, ascertain the actual state of trade in its various branches, institute a comparison with the past, and look round and see if there are not in operation causes sufficient to account for any special depression that may exist in the trade and prospects of the colony, altogether apart from the action of the late ordinances, which all admit to be sound in principle, and useful in practice. It is with much pleasure we hail the appearance of this letter, as a symptom of a healthier state of mind among the mercantile community, and of a desire to investigate dispassionately for themselves, the causes of what all must admit to be an unexampled state of commercial stagnation. At the coming meeting of the Hongkong Association, we hope to hear something better in the way of argument than some we have been favored with by one or two of the correspondents, whose letters have been published in this Journal, "SELL THE CAT" among the number. We shall be present in spirit at that meeting, if not present in the body, and will have in type ready for publication next morning, a strongly worded apology for all we have written and thought against that accomplished gentleman, Mr. SELL THE CAT, to appear, if he vindicates his name, and establishes his reputation for pluck and assurance by coming forward, and without beating about the bush, moves a petition to the QUEEN for the recall of Sir RICHARD MAC-DONNELL. Poor fellow, it is much to be feared his courage will fail him then, as his common sense abandoned him when he penned the first letter, to which his unluckily nom de plume was attached.

While speaking of the Hongkong Association it may not be out of place to point out one or two facts in connection with that body which are deserving of consideration on the part of those who propose to take an active part in the working of the association. It is not a Chamber of Commerce. Neither is it a Legislative assembly. It has not the powers of the latter although it possesses the right to deal with every possible question that may arise affecting in any way the interests of this colony. It is not limited in its sphere of action like the former, nor bound down to the performance of positive duties to its members. A Chamber of Commerce is a Mutual Benefit Association of merchants and people engaged more or less directly in commercial pursuits. Its special object is the good of trade, the well-being of its individual members, and of outsiders only as it affects the affiliated. The information a Chamber of Commerce collects is for itself and its members solely. The public may share in it when it is no longer of special value. Its exertions outside its own immediate circle are for the benefit of commerce generally, and it will as readily, or more readily, memorialize the Home Government to promote the opening of a new route to South Western China through Burmah, which, if successful, would probably injure the trade of Hongkong as much as it would benefit commercial interests generally, than call a meeting to petition the Government to make Hongkong the commercial and legal capital of British influence in China, a measure which would benefit Hongkong much, although it might not directly affect trade at all. The Hongkong Association works, or ought to work, primarily in the interests of this Colony of Hongkong, and in the intercsts of commerce only so far as they tend to benefit the Colony. The Chamber of Commerce looks only to trade, and Hongkong, apart from that, holds no place in the estimation of its members. The Chamber, too, works solely for its own members. The Hongkong Association labors for the common welfare of all colonists, present and to come.

It follows from all this that while the Chamber of Commerce is a Society limited in numbers, composed of men of a single class and with definite objects and fixed duties, the Hongkong Association ought to be a body, open to all the members of the community, and acting in the interests of the public, and for public and general, and not special and individual, interests. In a commercial colony like this, commercial men ought to have due weight allowed them, and Taipans ought to be heard with respect, but they ought not to be allowed to dictate. The subjects for discussion ought not to be limited to matters purely commercial, and the object ought not to be solely the promotion of trade. That is a very good thing, but there are others better. The permanent interest of this Colony ought to outweigh the immediate selfish interests of any class of the community. The Association can only work by influencing public opinion here and in England. It cannot hope to do that if it yields itself here to the dictation of two or three big names, and refuses to think for itself and speak.

THE Hongkong public is still waiting to hear from Macao, that the pirates engaged in the Annamite affair have been brought to trial. It bears, on the contrary, that the Macao Portuguese implicated in the affair are still at large and still holding harmcours, and doing business in coolies. The Independente, of the 9th instant, denies this, but such a denial is futile in the face of well known facts. One JAMIE DAS SANTOS is one of the men charged with the offence. Will the Independente say that he is not now dealing in emigrants? Will the Independente publish the names of those who act as keepers of his barracoons? The names of two more of the accused might possibly be found on the list. If you, SENHOR SIMOES DA SOUZA, wish to convince the world that you are in earnest in your determination to putato stop the crimes that have disgraced the name of Portugal, committed in connection with this emigration from Macao, and to vindicate your country and your religion from the dishonour brought upon it, you will pursue promptly, and vigorously the men concerned in the greatest scandal of modern days, the foulest crime that ever defiled the good name of a nation, the robbery and murder of the Annamite envoys and their escort, and punish with merciless severity the guilty wretches who are in your power. Give this proof of your sincerity, and England will believe in your bona fides, and your subjects make up their minds that you are really in earnest when your prohibit the slave trade.

BEFORE C. MAY, ESQ.

DRUNK.

John Thompson, fireman of the Pacific Mail Steamship China, came before the bench with a $20 gold piece in his pocket. He soon fell in with some congenial souls, who put him through in the orthodox style. Thompson, who smiled in a benign manner on his Worship, admitted that he had been drunk, and had but a faint idea of what he had been doing.

Mr. Maynard him soundly for coming ashore with twenty dollars, and spending it all in drink. He must pay fifty cents.

A FIGHT IN A TAVERN.

Ralph Thompson, a seaman, unemployed, was charged on the instance of a soldier of the 72nd Regiment, with assault.

The complainant, Mountiel, who had his face much battered about and his uniform splashed with blood, said he was in the Queen's-road the previous evening, and had been drinking. He went into a public-house, and there got into a "mess" with three or four men. Afterwards he went away, and returning the prisoner jumped up and struck from behind. He then called the police, and pointed out the prisoner.

An Indian Constable said the prisoner was pointed out to him as the assailant, but he knew nothing more of the case.

Prisoner admitted that he struck the soldier, but he said the man came into the house where he was sitting quietly down, and pulled him by the collar into the yard.

Mr. May told Mountiel that he ought to be ashamed to get into such a state of intoxication, and get himself "knocked about like ditches." Prisoner had no business to strike Mountiel, when in such a drunken state. He (prisoner) must pay one dollar for the assault.

A LAZY WATCHMAN.

Mr. Speechly, of McDougall and Co., charged a discharged man with having his empl y without a notice.

It appeared from complainant's story, that the coloured man was paid his wages on the 6th of the month, and came to work "showing up" again until the 10th. Defendant however, said he stopped away just because he had not received his wages. Complainant gave him a check for $33 to pay certain bills with, but defendant, a two watchmen, received $10 each, there was only $2 left for him, which, of course, was not enough. He had summoned complainant to appear at the Summary Jurisdiction Court for the balance of wages.

Mr. Speechly said the watchmen's wages were $10, $8, and $7.

Mr. May said it did not seem quite the thing to give the man in custody sometime after the offence was committed, and on the very day the summons was to come on.

Mr. Speechly said he did not look on the summons at all, when he gave the man into custody.

Mr. May said it was a pity that the defendant had not been given into custody immediately after the offence, and he would recommend that course to be adopted in future. Defendant was discharged.

AN OLD OFFENDER.

Cumapoo, was charged on being a suspicious character, and with having in possession a razor. Mr. Kidd.

Mr. Dunjohn of the Court, said he recognised the prisoner as a man named Chunseefoo, who for several years' penal servitude for robbery at the Central Bank of Western India. Afterwards prisoner went to live with Mr. Kidd, overseer of water works at Kai-fo-lum. Mr. Kidd was robbed, and the prisoner absconded at the same time. Overseer of convicts, Mr. Leland, captured the fellow and brought him to the Court for identification.

Mr. May enquired if the only evidence against the prisoner was the fact of his absconding at the time of the robbery.

Mr. Kidd said that was the only evidence.

The prisoner said the horse-boy ran away with the money, and he was afraid, so he ran too.

Mr. Kidd explained that he saw his property at any rate, and before the robbery and after the absconding of the boy.

Mr. May said he was afraid it was one of those cases where "what's bred in the flesh" &c. He hoped Mr. Kidd would be able to get some evidence, and with that view he would remand the case for a week.

A CARDINE CASE.

Mr. H. E. Pitman, described as Messrs. Dennys & Co., was summoned for that he did "set on and urge a dog to attack one of Chunaying, whereby his jacket was torn."

Mr. Francis from Mr. Gaskell's office, appeared for the prosecution.

Chun-ying, belonging to the Kwong-tai loong shop said on Saturday last, about half past four o'clock, the defendant, who lives next door and possesses a large dog came out and "set him on a young bull," and other unseemly opprobrious epithets. Defendant told him that there was 25 dollars and screwes to defend his dog (laughter.) Defendant also struck his dog (laughter) and set the aforesaid dog on him, whereby his jacket was torn.

A witness corroborated this statement.

Mr. Thorne said he was first called names by the complainant, and he then struck him with his open hand. The complainant immediately seized a small bamboo stool to defend himself with, and the dog, who was evidently excited and made a jump at complainant. He did not set the dog on, he dragged the dog off. He had no witnesses, as of course as the Chinaman had, he could prove nothing.

Mr. May said the balance of evidence was in the complainant's favour, so he must impose a fine of two dollars. The money was immediately paid.

BEFORE C. MAY, Esq., OCTOBER 14TH.

THE KOWLOON MURDER.

The two men charged in this case were again brought before Mr. May this morning for examination.

Dr. Stanley Adams, of the Seamen's Hospital, was first called, but of course his evidence was only a repetition of that given before the Coroner at the Inquest.

Ah Yeung who was with Mr. Tansey at the time of the murder and also the Hakka Girl who lived with the unfortunate man, were examined at great length, but beyond what has been reported nothing new was elicited.

Mr. James Foster, of the Union Dock Company, did not add anything to his previous testimony, excepting that he recollected a gang of the prisoners as a fruit hawker, or something of the kind.

Mr. May having gone into the case for nearly five hours, adjourned the examination until to-morrow, (this day), at eleven o'clock, when the more important part of the evidence will be brought forward.

BEFORE E. W. GODLEE, ESQ.

USING THREATENING LANGUAGE.

Mr. J. L. Avetoom, of Graham-street, was again summoned, in this instance by three Parsees, for using threatening language and attempting to strike them.

Mr. Edmund Sharp appeared for the prosecution, and, in addressing the Worship, observed that the late case in which Mr. Avetoom was charged, before Mr. May, and fined for creating a disturbance.

Mr. S. Cowasjee was first called. He was one of the complainants in the case, he stated great provocation was made by the defendant, and on the 29th instant the defendant fired a pistol from his verandah. He was in bodily fear of the defendant.

Mr. H. Rustomjee corroborated this evidence.

Mr. John Sanchez said he had heard Mr. Avetoom say that he would kick the Parsees.

In answer to defendant, Mr. Sanchez said he had heard defendant say he was going to provoke the Parsees for assaulting him, and defendant showed him marks of ill-treatment.

Mr. Sharp said it was a matter of public notoriety the disgraceful conduct of Mr. Avetoom.

Mr. E. W. Godlee eventually ordered defendant to find one security in $100, and himself in $50, to keep the peace to all Her Majesty's subjects in Hongkong, and to be of good behaviour for six months.

THE LATE LORD LEAF BOMBSET.

During the morning Mr. Hayllar (instructed by Mr. E. Sharpe) appeared to make an application for a rehearing in the above case. It would appear that the learned counsel was instructed that new evidence could be brought forward, to show that the man who obtained the gold leaf did show certain pecuniary notes; and that there was no fraud suspected.

The arguments of the learned counsel on various points, and His Worship's explanation of the whole case, lasted for some considerable time. Eventually, however, Mr. Goodlake said that if on Friday next, at eleven o'clock, Mr. Hayllar could produce witnesses to prove his point, the question of rehearing the case would then be taken into consideration.

A LAZY WATCHMAN.

Mr. Speechly, of McDougall and Co., charged a discharged man with having his empl y without a notice.

It appeared from complainant's story, that the coloured man was paid his wages on the 6th of the month, and came to work "showing up" again until the 10th. Defendant however, said he stopped away just because he had not received his wages. Complainant gave him a check for $33 to pay certain bills with, but defendant, a two watchmen, received $10 each, there was only $2 left for him, which, of course, was not enough. He had summoned complainant to appear at the Summary Jurisdiction Court for the balance of wages.

Mr. Speechly said the watchmen's wages were $10, $8, and $7.

Mr. May said it did not seem quite the thing to give the man in custody sometime after the offence was committed, and on the very day the summons was to come on.

Mr. Speechly said he did not look on the summons at all, when he gave the man into custody.

Mr. May said it was a pity that the defendant had not been given into custody immediately after the offence, and he would recommend that course to be adopted in future. Defendant was discharged.

AN OLD OFFENDER.

Cumapoo, was charged on being a suspicious character, and with having in possession a razor. Mr. Kidd.

Mr. Dunjohn of the Court, said he recognised the prisoner as a man named Chunseefoo, who for several years' penal servitude for robbery at the Central Bank of Western India. Afterwards prisoner went to live with Mr. Kidd, overseer of water works at Kai-fo-lum. Mr. Kidd was robbed, and the prisoner absconded at the same time. Overseer of convicts, Mr. Leland, captured the fellow and brought him to the Court for identification.

Mr. May enquired if the only evidence against the prisoner was the fact of his absconding at the time of the robbery.

Mr. Kidd said that was the only evidence.

The prisoner said the horse-boy ran away with the money, and he was afraid, so he ran too.

Mr. Kidd explained that he saw his property at any rate, and before the robbery and after the absconding of the boy.

Mr. May said he was afraid it was one of those cases where "what's bred in the flesh" &c. He hoped Mr. Kidd would be able to get some evidence, and with that view he would remand the case for a week.

A CARDINE CASE.

Mr. H. E. Pitman, described as Messrs. Dennys & Co., was summoned for that he did "set on and urge a dog to attack one of Chunaying, whereby his jacket was torn."

Mr. Francis from Mr. Gaskell's office, appeared for the prosecution.

Chun-ying, belonging to the Kwong-tai loong shop said on Saturday last, about half past four o'clock, the defendant, who lives next door and possesses a large dog, came out and "set him on a young bull," and other unseemly opprobrious epithets. Defendant told him that there was 25 dollars and screwes to defend his dog (laughter.) Defendant also struck his dog (laughter) and set the aforesaid dog on him, whereby his jacket was torn.

A witness corroborated this statement.

Mr. Thorne said he was first called names by the complainant, and he then struck him with his open hand. The complainant immediately seized a small bamboo stool to defend himself with, and the dog, who was evidently excited and made a jump at complainant. He did not set the dog on, he dragged the dog off. He had no witnesses, as of course as the Chinaman had, he could prove nothing.

Mr. May said the balance of evidence was in the complainant's favour, so he must impose a fine of two dollars. The money was immediately paid.

BEFORE C. MAY, Esq., OCTOBER 14TH.

THE KOWLOON MURDER.

The two men charged in this case were again brought before Mr. May this morning for examination.

Dr. Stanley Adams, of the Seamen's Hospital, was first called, but of course his evidence was only a repetition of that given before the Coroner at the Inquest.

Ah Yeung who was with Mr. Tansey at the time of the murder and also the Hakka Girl who lived with the unfortunate man, were examined at great length, but beyond what has been reported nothing new was elicited.

Mr. James Foster, of the Union Dock Company, did not add anything to his previous testimony, excepting that he recollected a gang of the prisoners as a fruit hawker, or something of the kind.

Mr. May having gone into the case for nearly five hours, adjourned the examination until to-morrow, (this day), at eleven o'clock, when the more important part of the evidence will be brought forward.

BEFORE E. W. GODLEE, ESQ.

USING THREATENING LANGUAGE.

Mr. J. L. Avetoom, of Graham-street, was again summoned, in this instance by three Parsees, for using threatening language and attempting to strike them.

Mr. Edmund Sharp appeared for the prosecution, and, in addressing the Worship, observed that the late case in which Mr. Avetoom was charged, before Mr. May, and fined for creating a disturbance.

Mr. S. Cowasjee was first called. He was one of the complainants in the case, he stated great provocation was made by the defendant, and on the 29th instant the defendant fired a pistol from his verandah. He was in bodily fear of the defendant.

Mr. H. Rustomjee corroborated this evidence.

Mr. John Sanchez said he had heard Mr. Avetoom say that he would kick the Parsees.

In answer to defendant, Mr. Sanchez said he had heard defendant say he was going to provoke the Parsees for assaulting him, and defendant showed him marks of ill-treatment.

Mr. Sharp said it was a matter of public notoriety the disgraceful conduct of Mr. Avetoom.

Mr. E. W. Godlee eventually ordered defendant to find one security in $100, and himself in $50, to keep the peace to all Her Majesty's subjects in Hongkong, and to be of good behaviour for six months.

THE LATE LORD LEAF BOMBSET.

During the morning Mr. Hayllar (instructed by Mr. E. Sharpe) appeared to make an application for a rehearing in the above case. It would appear that the learned counsel was instructed that new evidence could be brought forward, to show that the man who obtained the gold leaf did show certain pecuniary notes; and that there was no fraud suspected.

The arguments of the learned counsel on various points, and His Worship's explanation of the whole case, lasted for some considerable time. Eventually, however, Mr. Goodlake said that if on Friday next, at eleven o'clock, Mr. Hayllar could produce witnesses to prove his point, the question of rehearing the case would then be taken into consideration.

Misgovernment of Hongkong.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

SIR,—The result of the meeting of the Legislative Council, is what might have been anticipated, the Governor having previously determined to have his own way; but I think we have just cause to be dissatisfied at the apathy shown by two of the non-official members, one of whom at least is known to have a considerable stake in the prosperity of the colony.

What has Captain Quin done, that he should be entitled to a Pension? Is it because we are told he is inducted for the duties of Superintendent of Police? Opinion as to his capabilities seem to differ, as in your issue of the 6th instant it is stated, on no less Authority than that of the Chief Justice, that Sir Hercules Robinson had the highest opinion of Captain Quin; that offers were made for his services from various quarters, and it was in fact who should get the highest for him; yet this is the man we must get rid of at any price!

Again, the loan for a yacht is not only objectionable, but unjust. Since the foundation of the Colony a yacht has never been deemed either necessary or indispensable for carrying out official duties, and certainly of late years we have neither increased in wealth nor population sufficient to warrant or justify such extravagant expenditure. Our next Governor may possibly point one to him as the assailant, but he knew nothing more of the case."

Prisoner admitted that he struck the soldier, but he said the man came into the house where he was sitting quietly down, and pulled him by the collar into the yard.

Mr. May told Mountiel that he ought to be ashamed to get into such a state of intoxication, and get himself "knocked about like ditches." Prisoner had no business to strike Mountiel, when in such a drunken state. He (prisoner) must pay one dollar for the assault.

Mr. James Foster, of the Union Dock Company, did not add anything to his previous testimony, excepting of the various branches. At first they hardly realize the full extent of their loss. relied so implicitly on the delusive stater, which had been circulated by the associa- ...ger, stood by what, were supposed to be ...ctitious names and indorsed by those that, still hoped to recover at least part of what ... and deposited. But as week after week has ...ed, the hopelessness of this expectation has ...more plainly revealed. On May 31 last, Mr. Samuel Barrow, the official liquidator, ...bmitted a report containing the following state- ...s.—" The bank was started in 1856 and ...d its doors in 1866. The above capital ...cribed is £31,666, and the amount due to ...sitors and others £70,999. In round ...es. Of the assets referred to, the bad and ...ubtful debts alone amount to £28,000, and ...e residue of the debts, officers of the com- ...y, claim items thereon amounting to ...00, so that there is but a very ...l portion really good. Practically ...chances of a dividend depend upon the ...ization of two assets, one a large debt due ...a trustee of the bank, and the other the ...e of the premises 95, Old Jewry, the head ...e of the bank. At present it is difficult ...y the value of either, but with respect ...he latter the Mercers' Company, to whom ...premises belong, have commenced proceed- ...s with the object of effecting one; but I ...and have been for some time past, negoti- ...ing with them, and I hope that, whether ...y have just cause or not, they will not, under ...e circumstances, attempt to deal on the strict ...ns of the law. The profit and loss account ...ing the ten years the bank carried on its ...rations shows an amount of £9,899 received ...interest, &c., and that is the whole profit ...e; on the other side there is a charge of ...,993 for management at, clerks' salaries, com- ...issions, travelling expenses, directors' fees, ...e, and interest paid to shareholders, £3,400. ...ese figures, together with the losses by bad ...bts, will show where the money of the un- ...fortunate depositors has gone, and there is no ...ubt that the account was carried on until ...arly all its property and assets were exhausted. ...ere is, therefore, in this case no reason for ...arging the Court of Chancery with delay ...the payment of dividend." Although four- ...en months have elapsed since that letter ...as written, not one farthing has yet been ...id. Repeated applications have been made ...r an instalment of dividend, but without ...ulting any reply. The misery which ...is delay inflicts upon many is the most bitter ...at has been occasioned in or of the most bitter ...d. One poor woman, a trusse-maker, ...d £35 15s. in the association. She has ...st lost her husband, whose life might have ...en preserved if she had been able out of her ...ings to pay for proper medical treatment ...other young has a husband lying sick and ...stitute under similar circumstances. A month- ...nurse had saved £130, and her daughter a ...ple. £49, all of which was put in the savings ...nk; and now the mother is receiving parish ...lief. These are only a few instances out of ...ny. Perhaps the best thing the unhappy ...positors can now do is to dismiss all hope of ...ssistance on the part of their deposits. The pro- ...ssional position of affairs is thus stated in a let- ...r from the liquidator's solicitors, dated June ...—"In reply to your favour of yesterday, we ...ve to inform you that the official liquidator ...proceeding with all diligence to get in the ...state, but several questions have to be disposed ...before any dividend can be paid; questions ...ntine to securities held by the late auditors ...to their title to which he disputes, are at present ...bject to suits in Chancery. There are also ...her questions which must involve considerable ...me before they can be disposed of. We do not ...w any chance of a dividend forthcoming for one, ...d then it will be very small."

It was necessary a short time since to prove in Michigan that a man had murdered a little man by his first wife, and this could only be done by the testimony of his second wife. According to Michigan law the testimony of his wife could not be received. The difficulty was surmounted by proving that when she married him she had another husband living. Though thoroughly of bigamy, she was not her husband's wife, her evidence was received, and in consequence the man was convicted.

Mdme. On the previous Tuesday afternoon, without any premonitory symptoms, she was seized with an attack of congestion of the brain, from which she never recovered. She was insensible almost from the seizure till her death, which took place between six and seven o'clock in the morning. The deceased lady had expressed a wish to be buried at Villequier, in France, in the same grave as that in which her daughter Leopoldine was interred twenty-five years ago. This wish will be respected, and M. Hugo and his sons Charles and Francis, will accompany the remains to the French frontier, but no further.

On the 6th of August the pilot-boat Nettie, Captain Joseph Lockman, picked her up at sea, she having evidently been abandoned in bad weather. The hold of the vessel was pumped out, and the bodies of three drowned crew found in the forecastle, one being in a sitting posture on a trunk. It is understood that Captain Hotchkiss, of the Trowbridge, took with him when he sailed on the 4th his wife and children; but as for their bodies have not been discovered, and it is supposed that they were washed overboard.

We have heard of a chocolate-coloured cows and a chestnut-coloured horse, and a dark-coloured dress, and carroty hair and ruby lips, and a "port-wine nose;" but what are "coffee-coloured" eyes? In the "agony column" of a contemporary, on Aug. 25, there was an advertisement stating the disappearance from her home, near Gravesend-square, of a young lady, 17 years of age, but looking older, who had luxuriant brown hair, rosy complexion, white thick lips, and "coffee-coloured eyes." All true Britons must be anxious to restore the missing young lady to her friends; but how are we to tell her by her eyes, if the hue of those organs is defined by the vague term of "coffee-coloured?" What kind of coffee is meant, and in what stage of preparation.—Daily Telegraph.

A young New England clergyman riding in the cars between Springfield and Fitzfield, sat opposite a spiritualist, who was holding a noisy discussion with his neighbour in the same seat, on the subject of miracles. The spiritualist contended that the universe was governed by a fixed, unalterable law, and miracles were therefore impossible. After listening some time, the clergyman replied, that a law could not counteract itself, and that every miracle recorded, and he expressed the opinion that the spiritualist knew very little about what he was discussing. The latter retorted by saying: "Do you think you can make a fool of me?" "Oh, no," replied the minister, "I am afraid the lord has been too quick for me." There were no further "manifestations."

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

Hongkong, Wednesday Evening.

The Drug market remains without any material alteration, perhaps if anything it has been still weaker. The following are the ruling quotations:—Patna 992/3, to 993/5 cash, and 993/5 to 994/4 for 3 months; Benares 9/15 nominal; Malwa 9/45 to 9/50 weak.

The Chinese have been going about to-day inspecting for goods, but their ideas are in every instance far low prices, and a cheap quality appears to attract their attention from mere cheapness only. For second-class T-Cloths dealers have been offering $2.20 for 7lbs., and for 8/4 Grey Shirtings $2.50, but holders do not seem at all inclined for these prices. The only sales reported to-day embrace 900 pieces assorted Spanish Stripes at 95 cents, 150 pieces scarlet at 36 cents, 80 bales Blankets at $6.50 to $6.75 per pair, 50 bales No. 28/32 at $145, 2,000 pieces Thin T-Cloths at $2.25, and 1,000 pieces 7/4 Grey Shirtings at $2.80. Raw Cotton continues in limited request, the quantity placed to-day amounting to only 540 bales Bombay Staple at $18.50 to $19.00. There is no business to report in Shares. Some little sale was effected about Hongkong and Whampoa Docks, but we hear of no business having resulted. Banks are very firm, with few if any sellers.

Wandering Willie.

Willie went out one morning
The first of the sun to see;
He heard a rivulet laughing.
"I follow you home," said he.
The river had run for a thousand years,
Willie had lived for three.

Down by the singing river
The rushes had made their bed;
"'Tis me to be king of the castle,"
Said Will with a haughty head.
He shouldered a reed as a sentry's gun,
Pacing with martial tread.

Old mother sheep was feeding—
"What brings him, that boy, this way?"
She slowly came after Willie,
The warrior edged away:
The one that was fierce was in earnest then,
Neither enjoyed the play.

"This the giant," said Willie,
"And I am the valiant knight;
If only he would not come quite so close,
I think I should like to fight."
The sheep followed closer and closer yet,
Willie grew white with fright.

Over the hedge went Willie,
And into the ditch fell he;
The ground it was soft, and no limb was scathed,
Save only one dimpled knee.
"This is the mortal combat,
And I am the victim," said he.

"Carry me home, ye maidens."
An nurse with a frown appears,
"I am a weary pilgrim,
Lost for a hundred years."
"Moments," says nurse, severely;
Else men have had private fears.
"Nobody missed me!" cried Willie,
The hero dissolved in tears.

—From "Rainbows in Springlide."

Heart-Strings and Fiddle-Strings.

(From the "London Review.")

Do mothers ever think of the mischief done at flower-shows by Godfrey's band? A waltz or a dainty selection may send to the winds the experiences of a brace of seasons. There are men who calculate their chances with women by the keen susceptibility of some of the latter to the softening influences of well-played music, and who can bring to their aid in real courtship the unreal courtship on the boards of the opera-house, or the suggestive harmonies of the promenade. Those Italians apparently singing their souls out to each other, with such beautiful languor or passionate energy, often make or mar the prospects of careful mothers or daughters. The flower-show bands are not, of course, so effective, the players do not embrace each other, and if they did the effect would not be very romantic; but still they may dispose towards that sense of luxurious emotion which is not unfavourable for sighing lovers. Thus a kettledrum may boast of having sent a couple to St. George's, and it may be that the couple may owe a debt of gratitude or a curse to the kettledrum all their lives afterwards. We know what the piano has brought about in this respect. Messrs. Collard and Erard are perhaps the greatest match-makers in the country. Think of what music he on the musical consistence of an instrument which has been flirted over by a whole family of daughters, whose notes have been first off to drown the whispers of mischievous assistants, or to aid the process of landing a nervous fish! We are almost afraid to touch the subject of music in churches, and hint of the responsibilities incurred by an organ, or by a musical clergyman who sees up an amateur choir of the best tenor, soprano, and bass voices to be found among the most respectable of his parishioners. The "Village Blacksmith" of Mr. Longfellow is represented as feeling more or less refreshed at the sound of his daughter's voice as she trills and quavers the hymns on Sundays. If she was a village beauty we may be sure the young lady's performance attracted the notice of younger men in the congregation than her father.

We have heard a clever novelist ask to have an air played to him over and over again, out of which, when questioned, he confessed he had been constructing a story—a complete and rounded story, which became more and more definite in its proportions and mechanism every time that he listened to the tune, until at last it could be written down. Now, there was one specially odd circumstance about this fact. The melody was a very old melody, and from time immemorial had been attached to a love legend. The story-spinner did not know this legend, and yet he very nearly guessed it in forming his own conception; not only guessed it, generally, the mere idea of it, but matters to it of sentimental detail. We do not claim for this remarkable coincidence any more value than it is worth, but still it is not beneath notice in an essay like the present.

To return to the social aspect of our themes, what was shepherd without his reaper? He wooed his Chloe or Phyllis with tunes. The custom has dropped off in our day, but survives, to some degree, in another shape, as we have tried to show. There are, indeed, a few left who remind us of the tradition. Amateur tenors are to be found in society who manage to fascinate with their good notes, as Corydon did with his pastoral straw; and there are young gentlemen who, as Mr Punch says this week, perform on the "comb," or something else. Dub, as a rule, the fashion now prevails vicariously. The lights serenade is no longer in vogue. The concertina, with which some misguided artisans now and then interfere with the cats in order to compliment the young women with whom they travel in penny steamers, puts an end to amorous colloquizing on the part of gentlemen, if there was ever much of it in England. In vain, the cavaliers did not generally strum a single guitar, but engaged a band to come under the lattice of the adored, and perform to please her. We can effect the same object easier, and without so much danger of the young lady catching cold, by means of the organ or concert.

These gigantic concerts of the Crystal Palace afford us another example of the power of fiddle-strings to touch the heart. People have been known to shed tears at the great sobs of sound which burst from time to time from the orchestra. But here the emotion is something more than romantic. It is real and sincere enough at least to put little notions of love-thoughts out of the way. One country cousin, who managed to procure comfortable places, and who were not oppressed with the heat, no matter how well disposed for the amusement, probably (if they were fairly susceptible to musical emotions) postponed flirting until they had forgotten the agitation and subsequent melancholy and loneliness which ensues after the hearing of those wonderful choruses. And she brings us to the use of the fiddle-strings. Music has magnificent educational possibilities which have been as yet but partially realised by its masters and professors. It can do more than touch passion. We know it can aid religion, but unfortunately it can be degraded to ignoble purposes, almost as painting is at its lowest, and is the pimp of vice.

The sort of heart-strings vibrating to the song of Chloe are, vibrating to the tunes of the Cafaun quadrille—what shall we say of them? The fiddles of course are innocent agents in those cases, where they accompany the voice of the gross woman and the movements of the coarse woman. Yet they promote mischief and evil, just as they may, as we have suggested, promote piety and pure love.

THE EDITOR OF "PUNCH."—It is understood that Mr. Mark Lemon has at last yielded to the solicitations of his friends, and the temptations held out to him for some time past, and that his appearance on the platform will be among the novelties of the coming dramatic season. He is to sustain the character of Falconer, in scenes from Shakespeare's Henry IV., so selected as to form a consistent series of tableaux. The performances are not to take place in any theatre, but will belong to the class of amusements recognised as entertainments, although the action and costume of stage-play will be in part retained. Mr. Mark Lemon's powers as an actor are well known; his theatrical experience is larger, perhaps, than any modern writer for the theatre, and his association with the wit and humour of this age renders it a just deduction that Falconer will only be a matter of certainty. The personal appearance of the popular editor of Punch, his burly form and massive head, so remarkably resemble those which we are all accustomed to see in Falconer, to have been, that there can be very little doubt of the impersonation being one truly natural. The text of Shakespeare will certainly be an improvement upon the pantomimic jests generally, and the humorous conglomeration of one great poet unquestionably adds scope for a very amusing and intellectual performance.
